

Four Year M.D. Program Tuition —How Medical University of the Americas Compares

Since our school's founding in 1998, Medical University of the Americas has always been cognizant of the cost of medical education. MUA has always offered tuition that compares extremely favorably to other schools, while delivering on our commitment to quality. In fact, four year tuition and fees at MUA are less than half that of many other medical schools.

According to the American Association of Medical Colleges, the per-semester tuition at public medical schools in the U.S. now exceeds $25,000. The cost has risen so high that most students must seek additional financing beyond what they can obtain through federal loan programs, such as Stafford Loans.
